

Part of Paltrack's Corporate Social Responsibility Initiatives, is reaching out to a house for children in need, on the outskirts of Durbanville called 'The House of Grace' (HOG). The involvement is in the form of a monthly financial contribution towards the dry goods requirement of this house via an organisation called SHILOH.

About House of Grace:

House of Grace (HOG) is a house for deserted children in the Durbanville area. Aletta Herbst, a lady whom herself lived on the streets of Cape Town from the age of 11 to 13, wants to prevent other children from having to go through the same ordeal. She opened her house for children in need and now the police and social workers take such children to her for the chance of a "normal" happy family environment. At the moment she has 22 children (one is a premature baby, and 4 are younger than 1 year) in foster care. The project does not receive any funding from Government and they are totally dependent on donations throughout the year. See www.shiloh.org.za/?p=project&pid=72 for more information.

Andries Mouton, MD of Paltrack, said "Being part of the IMPERIAL group, we are encouraged to focus on the need within the geographical areas that we operate in. The children from HOG have touched us and we are privileged to be in a position to assist in this way".

About SHILOH:

Shiloh Synergy is a group of projects based on Biblical principles and committed towards the genuine needs of people, animals and the environment. The idea is to provide a conduit for people and organizations to support needy projects. See www.shiloh.org.za for more information.
